Governing is a serious business

NO matter whether you're in Tasmania, Adelaide or Mount Isa, independent politicians are the same everywhere. They can promise you anything knowing they will never have to deliver. They will raise every fear knowing they will never have to find a solution. They always seem to forget that governing Australia is a serious business where, like your household, you have to balance your priorities and your budget.

SENATOR IAN MACDONALD,
Northern based LNP Senator.
