The Queensland Local Government Act 2009 establishes a clear separation of powers and roles between Councillors and employees.

To ensure that the respective responsibilities can be effectively discharged, the Act contains specific provisions that prohibit Councillors from directing Council employees, but does permit Councillors to seek advice or information from employees to assist them in their decision making in accordance with advice guidelines.

Acceptable request guidelines establish the rules about how a Councillor asks a local government employee for advice to assist the Councillor carry out their responsibilities under the Local Government Act 2009 and the reasonable limits on requests that a Councillor may make.

Section 170 A (7) of the Local Government Act 2009 requires that acceptable request guidelines are to be adopted by the resolution of the local government.

These Guidelines satisfy the statutory requirement and Councillors are required to comply with them in accordance with the Local Government Act 2009.

The following provisions of the Act are most relevant:

Section 170 Giving directions to local government staff

- (1) The Mayor may give a direction to the Chief Executive Officer;

Note —

Contravention of subsection (3) is misconduct that could result in disciplinary action being taken against a Councillor. See sections 150L(1)(c)(iv), 150AQ and 150AR.

5.1 Contact Guidelines and Process

- 5.1.1 Councillors are entitled to request information or advice on any issue relating to Council's operations from the Chief Executive Officer;
- 5.1.2 The Chief Executive Officer must comply with all reasonable requests from Councillors as promptly as possible and in an appropriate manner, taking into account that some enquiries may require further investigation or liaison with Council departments before being answered;
- 5.1.3 The Mayor has additional roles and responsibilities that include:
  - a. liaising with the Chief Executive Officer on behalf of Councillors; and
  - b. directing the Chief Executive Officer in accordance with the Queensland Local Government Act 2009 and Councils policies and decisions.
- 5.1.4 A request for information or advice may relate to matters that are:
  - a. Requests for information on behalf of ratepayers, organisations or residents regarding budgeted routine works or services to which they are normally entitled;
  - b. Requests to investigate complaints or enquiries on behalf of ratepayers, organisations or residents which fall within normal day to day operations of Council; and
  - c. Follow up of procedural committee matters or basic interpretations (such as holding of inspections or clarification of agenda items).

Councillors may make the request for help or advice to the appropriate Director directly or to the Chief Executive Officer. Councillors must bear in mind that it is the Chief Executive Officer/Director's responsibility to determine the priority for the request for help or advice and to ensure such matters are dealt with efficiently and effectively in conjunction with other work procedures in place.

The Director will report on the results of the advice or help to the Chief Executive Officer.

"Attachment A" details the executive management structure and gives guidance on the areas of responsibility associated with each Director.

- 5.1.5 If the Director contacted is not responsible for the enquiry received, that Director shall refer the Councillor to the respective Director;
- 5.1.6 As stipulated in the Act, help or advice does not include a direction to the employee about the way in which the employee undertakes his/her work;
- 5.1.7 In no way are these guidelines meant to preclude pleasantries being exchanged between Councillors and employees;
- 5.1.8 To reduce the possibility of misinterpretation or incorrect information being given, Councillors are encouraged to submit requests in written form, preferably via email with cc to Mayor and Chief Executive Officer. This will allow matters to be referred to the relevant officer, investigated fully and a response provided to the Councillor and the person on whose behalf the request was sent;
- 5.1.9 Councillors are asked to use the customer service request system to report issues that should be addressed via those systems, for example reporting a road defect or other Council service requiring attention, in which case these guidelines do not apply;
- 5.1.10 It is also recognised that Councillors in carrying out their portfolio responsibilities will frequently interact with the Director responsible for the issues falling within the portfolio. It is not intended that these guidelines interfere with that regular interaction; and

5.1.11 Under no circumstances are Councillors permitted to communicate with any officer other than the Chief Executive Officer in respect to employment of staff or personal issues that would normally be confidentially contained within their personal file.

5.2 Inappropriate Interaction

Inappropriate interaction is any behaviour by Councillors or Council staff that bypasses or interferes with the approved channels of communication between them, or blurs the distinction between their areas of responsibility.

A Councillor (including the Mayor) must not under any circumstances give a direction to a staff member and only the Mayor may give a direction to the Chief Executive Officer.

The Councillor Conduct Guide issued by the Crime and Corruption Commission dated July 2013, states the following:

It is inappropriate for Councillors to:

- approach staff outside normal hours of work to discuss Council business;
- direct or pressure staff in relation to their work or recommendations they should make; and
- behave towards staff in an overbearing or threatening manner.

It is inappropriate for Council staff to:

- approach a Councillor rather than the staff member's Director, supervisor or union delegate on employment matters;
- discriminate against a particular Councillor by withholding information available to other Councillors; and
- fail to keep records of advice given to Councillors, as they would do if they were advising a member of the public (e.g. about town planning issues).
