

From the Principal

Dear Parents and Carers

Many of our Seniors are now in the process of getting licences or cars. This brings with it an enormous amount of responsibility. A Year 12 boy who drives to school must be accountable to himself, his family and his school. The following reflection expresses a very important aspect of our youth culture.

The Coroner in a small town in New Zealand handed down his report to the cause of the death of four young men in a car travelling at over 150 kph. The driver, 18 years of age, was well over the permitted alcohol limit. His four passengers had not been drinking; one, who was wearing a seat belt, survived.

The report went on to say that the driver had been on a pub-crawl with his father that afternoon before he arrived at a party where he met his mates. This party was supervised, with the homeowner speaking to the young man several times during the evening, as he was concerned at his intoxicated state. The rest is history.

The Coroner acknowledged the host's supervision of the party; he also noted the effectiveness of the seat belt. He deplored the behaviour of the father who drank with his son (two years under the legal age in New Zealand) and hoped that the incident would assist in saving lives in the future.

There remains one unanswered question. Why? Why did these four young men get into a car with the potential killer? Why did he drive? Why didn't someone stop them? No one can answer these questions but they need to be continually asked. All associated with this horrific accident will ask themselves these questions until the day they die. What's the connection with Ignatius Park? Well, it could happen here.

Some adults are irresponsible in providing liquor for young people; some young people drink to excess; alcohol is a stimulant which releases tensions and can instil a sense of bravado and some young people find it very difficult to say 'no' in peer group situations.

From the Principal contained

I often speak to our senior students about their responsibility to one another. I am convinced that peer support is an indicator of true friendship and that this is alive and well at Ignatius Park College. I also implore our students not to take it for granted. It is something that must be worked at, restored after breaking down, cherished as a true gift. This small community would not have been affected by this horrific incident if the bonds existed between these young people were based on true friendship and responsibility.

As our Seniors enjoy the freedom cars can provide, my prayer is that our young people will take their responsibilities to one another seriously and that peer support will remain a strong characteristic of Ignatius Park College. It would be great if you could discuss this with your son.

CLOSE THE GAP

A number of our staff and students have been wearing specially made Close the Gap T-shirts in support of the Close the Gap Campaign.

The poorer health of Australia's Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples when compared to the non-Indigenous population is no secret – and something can be done about it. Since 2006, Australia's peak Indigenous and non-Indigenous health bodies, NGOs and human rights organisations have worked together to achieve health and life expectancy equality for Australia's Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples. This is known as the Close the Gap Campaign.

The campaign's goal is to close the health and life expectancy gap between Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples and non-Indigenous Australians within a generation. The campaign is built on evidence that shows that significant improvements in the health status of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples can be achieved within short time frames.

By joining our efforts, we can make sure that by 2030 any Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander child born in this country has the same opportunity as other Australian children to live a long, health and happy life.

We welcome all in our Community to join us for our Easter Liturgy and Edmund Rice Awards next Thursday, 30 March, at 11am.

Finally, I would like to congratulate our staff and students for their fundraising to support Caritas Australia.

Pope Francis – A Role Model/Hero for Many

In Year 11 Religion & Ethics classes we have been completing a unit on role models and heroes. In their assessment task, students wrote about religious role models and heroes. Many wrote about Pope Francis, alongside Australia's own St Mary MacKillop, Mother Teresa and our own Fr Rod Ward as role models for us to follow God's call to each of us.

Pope Francis is in touch with the people – he engages in social media and speaks regularly to us – it is for us to listen amongst a vast array of other messages. Pope Francis' Lenten Message is a great reflection for us to consider as the term draws to a close and we approach the Easter Triduum, the central focus of our shared faith as Christians.

“The Word is a gift. Other persons are a gift” is the title of Pope Francis' Lenten message for this year. I enclose some parts for your contemplation and reflection in your Lenten devotions.

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

Lent is a new beginning, a path leading to the certain goal of Easter, Christ's victory over death. This season urgently calls us to conversion. Christians are asked to return to God “with all their hearts” (Joel 2:12), to refuse to settle for mediocrity and to grow in friendship with the Lord. Jesus is the faithful friend who never abandons us. Even when we sin, he patiently awaits our return; by that patient expectation, he shows us his readiness to forgive (cf. Homily, 8 January 2016).

Lent is a favorable season for deepening our spiritual life through the means of sanctification offered us by the Church: fasting, prayer and almsgiving. At the basis of everything is the word of God, which during this season we are invited to hear and ponder more deeply. I would now like to consider the parable of the rich man and Lazarus (cf. Lk 16:19-31). Let us find inspiration in this meaningful story, for it provides a key to understanding what we need to do in order to attain true happiness and eternal life. It exhorts us to sincere conversion.

The other person is a gift

The parable begins by presenting its two main characters. The poor man is described in greater detail: he is wretched and lacks the strength even to stand. Lying before the door of the rich man, he fed on the crumbs falling from his table. His body is full of sores and dogs come to lick his wounds (cf. vv. 20-21). The picture is one of great misery; it portrays a man disgraced and pitiful.

The scene is even more dramatic if we consider that the poor man is called Lazarus: a name full of promise, which literally means “God helps”. This character is not anonymous. His features are clearly delineated and he appears as an individual with his own story. While practically invisible to the rich man, we see and know him as someone familiar. He becomes a face, and as such, a gift, a priceless treasure, a human being whom God loves and cares for, despite his concrete condition as an outcast (cf. Homily, 8 January 2016).

Lazarus teaches us that other persons are a gift. A right relationship with people consists in gratefully recognizing their value. Even the poor person at the door of the rich is not a nuisance, but a summons to conversion and to change. The parable first invites us to open the doors of our heart to others because each person is a gift, whether it be our neighbor or an anonymous pauper. Lent is a favorable season for opening the doors to all those in need and recognizing in them the face of Christ. Each of us meets people like this every day. Each life that we encounter is a gift deserving acceptance, respect and love. The word of God helps us to open our eyes to welcome and love life, especially when it is weak and vulnerable. But in order to do this, we have to take seriously what the Gospel tells us about the rich man.

Dear friends, Lent is the favorable season for renewing our encounter with Christ, living in his word, in the sacraments and in our neighbor. The Lord, who overcame the deceptions of the Tempter during the forty days in the desert, shows us the path we must take. May the Holy Spirit lead us on a true journey of conversion, so that we can rediscover the gift of God's word, be purified of the sin that blinds us, and serve Christ present in our brothers and sisters in need. I encourage all the faithful to express this spiritual renewal also by sharing in the Lenten Campaigns promoted by many Church organizations in different parts of the world, and thus to favor the culture of encounter in our one human family. Let us pray for one another so that, by sharing in the victory of Christ, we may open our doors to the weak and poor. Then we will be able to experience and share to the full the joy of Easter.

VET and Industry Placement News

We would like to congratulate Isaac Young (12 Nolan) who was offered a full-time plumbing apprenticeship, following impressive workmanship during the last industry placement week. Isaac accepted the position and has begun as a full-time apprentice with Tacoma Plumbing. All the best for your future trade, Isaac.

Also, thank you to Tacoma Plumbing for supporting our students in the Industry Placement Program.

Isaac's story is a timely reminder to all our VET boys on the value of the IPC Industry Placement Program. Industry Placement continues to be an integral source of employment opportunities for our students.

Readers' Cup

The Readers' Cup competition involves students reading a set of books and competing against other teams to answer quiz questions. This year, the following students are participating in the Year 7/8 Team: James Clarke, Tenzin Daly, Lachlan Larsen, Dominic McGlashan and Jordan Whiteside. These students will be reading the following books throughout Term Two: The Sound of Whales, Escape to the Moon Islands, Grimson, Amina and Eagle of the Ninth. The team are eager to start reading their competition books over the Easter break.

Science News

Year 12 Biology students have been learning about sexual reproduction in plants and animals as well as human nutrition. To reinforce their learning, the two classes completed a piglet dissection. The internal anatomy of the pig is very similar to that of a human which allowed them to make comparisons to human reproductive and digestive system structures. The students enjoyed the hands on learning experience.

The piglets used are ethically collected as they have either been still-born or squashed by their mother during feeding.

Your child's resilience is often found in their struggles

BY MICHAEL GROSE

One of the unwritten laws of family-life is that talent and ability is unevenly distributed between siblings.

In most families there is one child who seems to have more than his or her fair share of ability. Everything some kids turn their hands to – whether schoolwork, sport and socialising – is done successfully and effortlessly.

If you have such a child then there is a fair bet that you will also have a child who struggles in the same areas. For these children achieving success takes more effort and concentration than it does for their sibling.

Just as it is easy for parents to marvel at the talented child, it's frustrating and, at times, heart-breaking to watch your child struggle to attain even mediocre levels of success at school, in their sport or leisure activities.

It's harder still when you know that no matter how hard your child tries they just can't be as successful as their sibling who gets all the glory and accolades from relatives and friends.

As a parent it's important to be realistic about what each child can achieve so keep your expectations in line with their ability and maturity, and avoid making comparisons between siblings.

Here are some ideas to keep in mind if you are parenting a child where success, at school, sport and other common childhood activities, just doesn't come naturally.

- 1. Be your child's cheerleader. Kids who have to work really hard to achieve need someone in their lives who is able to boost their self-confidence, particularly when they are struggling. Make a fuss over small successes so they can puff up their chests every now and then. Increase the time they spend doing activities where they excel so these feelings of confidence expand. Learn about the art of real encouragement.
- 2. Focus your comments on contribution, improvement and effort. It's difficult praising kids when the results aren't there but you can always focus your comments on their contribution to the team rather than kicking the winning goal, improvements shown in reading or the effort they are making at art.
- 3. Remove or minimise sources of discouragement. While encouragement is a powerful confidence builder eradicating sources of discouragement in your child's life is part of the encouragement process. Sibling comparisons, spoiling, criticising and using derogatory labels (You're a dope!) are common discouragers to be avoided, even in jest.
- 4. Remember that persistence pays. Children who persist learn an important life lesson – that is, success in most endeavours takes effort. Those kids who sail through their childhoods without raising a sweat can struggle when eventually they do have to work long and hard to succeed.
- 5. Help kids identify their strengths. Kids are like niche marketers – they define themselves by their strengths. "I am a good reader," "I'm sporty," "I'm really good at art" are some of the labels kids will use. As they move into adolescence the number of options for success open up, so help them find one or two areas that they enjoy and can easily achieve success in.
- 6. Don't put kids on pedestals. It is difficult living in the shadow of a superstar so avoid making a huge fuss over the achievements of a particular child – it makes life difficult for those who follow. Recognise results but balance that by focusing equally on their efforts as well.
- 7. Scaffold their way to success. Traditionally parents have always ways of making skill acquisition easy for kids. The busier we get though the more likely we are to neglect this vital part of parenting. Simplify tasks so that they learn bit by bit how to make a bed/prepare a meal/learn to read. Alternatively, spend time doing things together and move them from "You watch me" to "I'll watch you."

Raising kids who find life a breeze is easy. However, parenting kids who take longer to mature, or kids that must put in 110 per cent effort to achieve is challenging for any parent.

Raising the family underdog requires parents to focus on kids' strengths, be liberal with encouragement and have realistic but positive expectations for success. And, of course, never, ever give up or lose faith in them.

Student Lockers

Student Lockers at the end of Term

Just a reminder that student lockers need to be cleared out for the end of term. This enables the maintenance staff to conduct a proper cleaning of the locker areas over the holiday break. It is also an opportunity for students to sort out what has been left in lockers and make a fresh start next term.

To avoid students having a massive clean-up and a lot of books to take home on the last day, they should be beginning to sort things out over the last week. On Thursday 30 March (last student day), all students will only need books for Periods 1 and 2 as the rest of the day will be taken up with our Easter Liturgy and Edmund Rice Day celebrations. Thus, all other books can be taken home on Wednesday.

Rowing News

Next week our senior rowers, Aaron McRae and Liam Buxton, will be competing at the Sydney International Rowing Regatta in Penrith, Sydney.

The boys have been training hard, up to 12 times, a week and will be competing as a Pair (one oar each as pictured), Double and in Singles in the under 19 age group category.

They follow in the proud tradition of Ignatius Park rowers being represented at the National Championships. The competition will be tough. They will be racing against the best crews in Australia and we wish them all the best.

I look forward to seeing everyone at the Information Evening tonight.

Musical News

Production rehearsals are full steam ahead and students are giving it their all to develop a memorable show. Contracts and levy were due last Friday. If you have yet to hand in your signed form and money, please do so this week.

Please note the change of time for rehearsal this coming Sunday 26 March. Most students are required from 1pm. We will also be having a BBQ after rehearsal until 5:30pm to celebrate making it through to the end of term.

Rehearsals this week

Thursday 23 March	4pm – 6pm	All Pirates, Leads
Sunday 26 March	1pm – 5pm	All Pirates and Leads
Sunday 26 March	2pm – 5pm	Police
Tuesday 28 March	3:30pm – 5:30pm	Leads
Thursday 30 March	4pm – 6pm	Whole Cast

Some Year 12 students wanted to be involved in Production this year, however, couldn't commit the time to the full show. To allow our senior men to have the experience of Production, I have developed a small scene especially for them. Rehearsal requirements will be limited, however, your son must commit to attending every rehearsal required for this scene. Interested Year 12 students need to see me for a permission slip.

First XIII

The First XIII have tapered their training over the past week after a run of tough encounters in Week 6 and Week 7. The boys have still been working hard in the gym under the watchful eye of Strength and Conditioning Coach, Mr Giorgas. However, field sessions have been reduced during the assessment phase to allow the boys to focus on their school work.

From Sunday to Thursday in Week 10, Ignatius Park College will play host to 18 players and 3 staff from Patrician Brothers College Fairfield, Sydney. Patrician Brothers hosted the Iggy boys in November last year on our trip to Sydney and we look forward to returning the favour.

One of the features of the trip will be when the two teams play straight after school on Tuesday afternoon next week. The boys will complete for the 'Frank lemma Shield' which is named after PBCF Sports Coordinator, Frank lemma, who has also spent several terms teaching at Iggy Park. Ignatius Park College First XIII are the current holders of the trophy after a narrow victory in Sydney and we look forward to taking on the PBCF boys next Tuesday.

2nd XIII

The Seconds were narrowly defeated by All Souls College, Charters Towers last week. In what was the IPC boys first loss of the season, they were taught a lesson in the importance of ball control and getting to the end of sets to sustain pressure. The IPC boys now look forward to a final encounter of the TSSSA Block Sport Season in which they will take on William Ross State High School.

U14

Ignatius Park College White came up against Kirwan in a highly anticipated match in the U14 division. Defence dominated on the day with both sides scoring one try each in a hard-fought battle that could have gone either way. In the end it was Kirwan who narrowly escaped with victory 6 – 4. IPC White Coach, Mr Brown, was happy with the overall effort from all of the boys but said they would focus on execution moving onto the last game of the season. Nathan Ford, Kyle Heenan and Louis Jackson were singled out for special praise from Coach Brown.

IPC U12/U13

It was the nail-biter of the season for the Under 12s as they took on Cathedral's Under 13s on Tuesday last week! The boys showcased a commendable attacking effort, scoring two tries in the early minutes of the game. However, it wasn't long until Cathedral replied with two tries of their own, throwing in two successful conversions for good measure. A few outstanding plays by Cathedral saw them leading Iggy 18 points to 16 with three minutes to go. Although our supporters were preparing for the first loss of the season, the boys weren't calling it quits just yet. Relentless perseverance and determination saw Iggy cross the line not once, but twice in the dying minutes, locking in the final scores at 26 – 18. A big congratulations to the whole team for giving their best until the fulltime whistle. Special thank you to Mr Guerra and the Under 14s for lending us your lucky jerseys – they worked like a charm! Congratulations to Frank Connor, Reece Foley, Adrian Sandy, Riston O'Grady, Jamal Shibasaki and Jack Wood who were all selected in the Townsville Team to contest the Northern U12 Trials.

IPC White

IPC White were defeated 42-6 by Kirwan on Tuesday afternoon. The Iggy boys were gallant and tried hard until the final whistle. However, Kirwan's big strong running forwards were able to get on top of the IPC pack and convert this dominance and field position into points. Mr Williams was happy with the IPC boys performance in patches. However, they will need to be more consistent across the park in the future.

IPC Blue

U13s IPC Blue went up against Pimlico in what turned out to be the last round for the inter-school comp. Both teams started well with the game being a tough battle early. Both teams had their fair share of ball with the IPC Blue side doing more with their sets and finally running out 38 – 4 victors. Mr Gaston would like to thank Mr Power and all students involved with the team including those boys who volunteered to run water. Thanks for the season!

Christian Quabba | Teacher

IPC Cross Country

The IPC Cross Country will be held on Wednesday, 29 March. School will start as normal on the day. The Cross Country will start and finish in Cranbrook Park. All students are encouraged to participate. Teachers will walk the boys down to the Park at the start of Period 1. There will be water provided on the course and at the finish line. The boys will be encouraged to hydrate before they leave school. Student with medical concerns should see their Pastoral Coordinator.

At the completion of the race, the boys are asked to walk back to school. The road way intersections on the return journey are supervised by staff, as well as the school ovals and the swimming pool.

School will resume at 11.15am and the school canteen will be open from 10.00am.

A school representative team will be chosen to compete at the Townsville Interschool Competition and a number of warm up events in Townsville.

World's Greatest Shave

Last Friday, 17 March, Ignatius Park College participated in the Leukaemia Foundation's "World's Greatest Shave" in support of their Australia wide raising fund initiative. Twenty-eight staff and students bravely chose to risk it all and have their heads shaved, but not before raising some much needed funds to support families affected by blood cancers. At last count, over $11,000 was raised by this group. But these spirited men and women could not have done this alone. Their success with this fundraiser was largely due to the generous spirit demonstrated by the whole College and wider community. On behalf of all those who participated in the shave, well done Iggy!
